TONE BELL

Tone Bell is an LA-based stand up comedian. He is currently in production on Chuck Lorre's new weed dispensary sitcom, DISJOINTED, which is being produced by Warner Brothers. Tone stars in an ensemble cast, the series will premiere on Netflix this coming June. Last year Tone toplined NBC's comedy TRUTH BE TOLD executive produced by Will Packer and DJ Nash. This is in addition to selling an untitled half-hour scripted comedy based on his life to FX which he co-created, is writing, executive producing and will star in. Bell first appeared on televisions across the country as bartender "RJ" when he joined Season 2 of WHITNEY on NBC.

He was the host of MTV's JERKS WITH CAMERAS and in 2014 was cast in a break out role as bailiff Tedward Mulray playing opposite Kate Walsh in the sitcom BAD JUDGE on NBC. Voted one of Variety's 2015 Top 10 Comics to Watch, Tone Bell continues to regularly perform stand-up to sold-out audiences across the country. His half hour stand-up special premiered on Comedy Central late last year and his one hour special is slated to shoot in Spring of this year.
