Originally having picked up traction for his hilarious videos on Vine, D.C. is a fan-favorite amongst today's generation. He can be seen as the lead in Universal's Comedy Feature for MTV, HOW HIGH 2, which has received notable acclaim for being the highest rated Saturday program on the network in 6 years, and in a supporting role in Master P's I GOT THE HOOK UP 2. As a creator, D.C.'s original online comedy videos have garnered him a huge following, including over 10 million Instagram followers; 1.7 million Facebook fans; and 35 million views on YouTube. And always a fan of live performances, he tours the country both as a headliner for sold out shows in the stand-up comedy space and as the host of the hilarious 85 SOUTH podcast show.
